

Shooter Jennings, My Song For You

the dying day paints a portrait of sadness upon this lonely LA tier now ive found a home in this pris boarder line career but there she sits in a store on 13th street walking a boarder line of her own is s way that i see her when she walks into a room and im not exactly happy about all of the things that mistakes and i know that im young and im sorry if ive hurt anyone but of all the things im proud of a in the sun the way i find myself loving her is the best thing ive ever done God knows its hard to let s youre still looking for a sign and the harder it sits the older i get but the taste is as sweet as wine so across the dance floor as i sing my song for you but if you let go i want you to know that im saving know i climbed some mountains i probably never should have climbed i feel ive fallen farther and h man with reason or rhyme but if i had a way to show her how deep my heartache runs and the way the best thing ive ever done and if anyone would have told me that i would ever love anyone this w have listened but now im here and i have to say that you only make me stronger ive never been mo way i find myself loving you is the best thing ive ever done
