

Shout Out Louds, You Are Dreaming

Where were you when we called the police?
Were you ready to go home and hard to please?
But no, you were in Portugal.
So don't come back to Stockholm no more.

Where were you when Dylan went electric?
She fell in love with an old friend from school
but no, you didn't find out what happened did you?
And don't come back to Stockholm no more.

Say what you say, I am listening, I am all ears.
But if you still believe I'm thinking of you
you are dreaming, yes you are dreaming.

Where were you when they sold their house?
I was stuck in a conversation about going out oh no, a cigarette can't cover up the mess I'm in.
But it makes me feel less lonely. Again and again.

Say what you say, I am listening, I am all ears.
But if you still believe I'm thinking of you
you are dreaming, yes you are dreaming.
Everything you say, I am listening, I am all ears.
But if you still believe I'm thinking of you
you are dreaming, yes you are dreaming.

I don't know when she will get her child.
I asked Christian and he answered with a nervous smile;
"It's not easy, I'm not the one to say.
Why don't you fly down to her anyway?"