Signs Of Betrayal, In This Skin

If I could show you emotions I've poured into love I could fill up the seas and the infinite above

But now I stand here hatred and heartache my sin

From the scars I have gained

That I would not ever wish on anyone

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They're trapped in this skin

And they're wrapped around my veins

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They never will fade

Like a cold dark winter's day

If I could take back the innocence I've lost in my life

I would bury it deep so that it would never die

But now I stand here blackened and tainted like storm clouds

That tear through the sky

With the tear like rain drops falling all around

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They're trapped in this skin

And they're wrapped around my veins

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They never will fade

Like a cold dark winter's day

If these scars would heal

I would cut this skin

Just to see me bleed

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They're trapped in this skin

And they're wrapped around my veins

And I can't bleed

All these things done to me

They never will fade

Like a cold dark winter's day

Like a cold dark winter's day.
