

Silence Is Sexy, On The Beach

I went to stay the night away
Sleeping on the beach
A perfect sight on guiding lights
Kept you within reach
Our worn out track made me think back
To where it all began

While my trust tried to leave
Faith was growing underneath my fear
When the rain touched my skin it was clear
I was not alone

The stars they shine much brighter now
But it appears to me
I can't make it on my own
And let you keep the key

While my trust tried to leave
Faith was growing underneath my fear
When the rain touched my skin it was clear
I was not alone

It's hard to trust what you can not see
When I'm falling you will carry me
