Silent Civilian, Falling Down

Unleash the hate manifesting inside
Stuck in a world of betrayals and lies
Blood Starts to heat and the tension will rise
Grinding his teeth, rage in his eyes
Pacing the room entertaining the thought
Seeking revenge cause he's clearly distraught
Dreaming of loading the gun he just bought
Justice Will Rise, Bodies will fall Down

Watch them fall down, They will fall down Erase The fear Replaced With Closure for all, he shares his pain Creates this closure for all

Following through on this promise he's made Cries to the man in the mirror, betrayed Lost is the rash of the role he once played Something has snapped, Sanity Slain Ten in the Clip now with one in the hole Chanting Repeating "And Justice For All" Pulls Back his hammer, he finally stands tall Pulling his trigger, Bodies now fall Down