Silke Bischoff, No Paradise

Can you tell me where's the light in your eyes I remember you laughing like a child Now you talk tome with a failing voice Looking so much older than you are

Can you tell me babe Where are the stars in your eyes Can you tell me There's no paradise

Can you tell me babe Where are the stars in your eyes Can you tell me There's no paradise

Tell me why did you loose all your dreams You wanted to change the world Now your failing like a withered leave Even too weak to change yourself

A liquid sky like running ink White crystals in a burning ocean Crucified with needles There's no paradise

Your blood is pouring down your arms Your future in a sooty spoon Crucified with needles There's no paradise

Can you tell me where's the light in your eyes I remember you laughing like a child now you get lost in the twilight zone Engulfed by infinite darkness

A liquid sky like running ink White crystals in a burning ocean Crucified with needles There's no paradise

Your blood is pouring down your arms Your future in a sooty spoon Crucified with needles There's no paradise

A liquid sky like running ink White crystals in a burning ocean Crucified with needles There's no paradise

Your blood is pouring down your arms Your future in a sooty spoon Crucified with needles There's no paradise