

Simon And Milo, Europa

I remember like it's yesterday
The song we used to sing
What was it's name
Danced together till the break of day
And I knew I'd never be the same
Now so many winters turned to spring
But where is the love that I thought they would bring
Sit and think about that girl form Spain
And how we used to sing

Lalalalalala la la la...Europa
Lalalalalala la la la...Europa

London,Amsterdam and gay Paris
Don't mean that much to me
They're all the same
People falling but no one for me
They could never match that girl Spain
Now so many years have passed me by
And still I long for that sweet spanish sky
Senorita do you think of me and of this melody

Lalalalalala la la la...Europa
Lalalalalala la la la...Europa

A box of letters and a photograph
Are all that's left to keep our memory
Sometimes I swear that I can hear you laugh
Like a ghost of what could never be
At night I would look across the sea
And wonder if you could looking at me
The ocean haunts me like a symphony that plays our melody

Lalalalalala la la la...Europa
