

Simon Townshend, Comeback

And so you promised me the world, you said it all would work out alright
You gave me hope when I was down, I was picked up off the ground
And I'm still waiting for you now.

So you promised me a cure, you said it all would soon be over
I need your wisdom to be wise, and your strength to face this life
And I could make it if I tried.

So hurry and comeback, help me to comeback
Comeback put me on a right track, comeback help put the sun back home
So you promised me the world, you said it all would soon be over
I hope he sees what he has done, and how he's the lucky one
Having you to lean upon

And so you swore it wouldn't last, you said it 's nothing very special
I need your wisdom to be wise and your strength to face this life
And I could make it if I tried

So hurry and comeback, help me to comeback
Comeback put me on a right track, comeback help put the sun back home
Blue is the color of beautiful skies

Green mixed with red are your ebony eyes
My world is black and until you comeback I can't see
Di di di di do

I need your wisdom to be wise, and your strength to face this life
And I could make it if I tried

So hurry and comeback, help me to comeback
Comeback put me on the right track, comeback help put the sun back home
Comeback, help me make a comeback comeback put me on a right track
Comeback help put the sun back home, help me be the one
Back from the dead I will come if you help me see the sun
