

Sinai Beach, Never Say Never

Now, what's this?

That can't be the girl that I once knew.

Did your eyes fool your heart, or did your heart fool your beliefs?

Now I watch you eat your words.

Please tell me that it's not the girl that I once knew.

The promise was made to always hold true; but you said, "I'll never."

Well I guess that old saying is true, "Never say never."

You take steps back in your faith,

just to get the kiss of a pretty face.

Never say never.

Now I watch you eat your words, how did they taste?

Now knowing you has become ironic.

A woman so wonderful, a face so beautiful.

But I hate to look upon it, because it reminds me of what once was,

what was once you.

That can't be the girl I once knew.

A woman so wonderful, a face so beautiful,

I pray you'll be her again.