

Sinead O' Connor, Summer's End sometimes I feel so sad other times I feel so glad I can't explain the way you play games with my mind and soul

I only know I love you and I won't let go

I can wait till summer's end
I can wait to see you again

I can wait for summer's end
I can wait to see you again
I can wait to be your friend your lover, oh, once again

Have you set some test to pass who shall crawl on broken glass yes.

I can wait for summer's end
I can wait to be your friend

I am that woman,
I am that woman,
I am that woman,

it's not hard to understand

you say you miss me too
I do, do, do
I don't want no other love then you You, you, you, you you say you need me to and do, do, do I want part no other love with you so, you can do anything that you want to, do I don't want no love then you you but you know you'd better be true true, true, true, true, I'll be making love with you soon, soon, soon, soon
