

Sing It Loud, Maybe I'm A Ghost

So baby, run your fingers down my face
And watch me turn around and walk away
(Watch me turn around and walk away)
And all those times you always had me beat
But now I lay in bed and grind my teeth
(Now I lay in bed and grind my teeth)
'Cause in the end she'll never know

I bet a dime that every time we meet
That something obvious will come from it
(Something obvious will come from it)
Because we take our drinks and then retreat
And then we talk until we fall asleep

'Cause in the end she'll never know
Who lights the skies
Come home
And when you fall don't feel alone
'Cause I'll get up get up for you

And maybe I'm a ghost and I'm wondering
Can you hear me?
Can you see me?
'Cause this could be the end
And I'm hoping that you still feel me
Please don't leave me

So baby, run your fingers down my face
And watch me turn around and walk away
Because we take our drinks and then retreat
And then we talk until we fall asleep

And maybe I'm a ghost and I'm wondering
Can you hear me?
Can you see me?
'Cause this could be the end
And I'm hoping that you still feel me
Please don't leave me
(And I'll get up get up for you)

Maybe I'm a ghost
And maybe I'm a ghost and I'm wondering
Can you hear me?
Can you see me?
'Cause this could be the end
And I'm hoping that you still feel me
Please don't leave me
