

Sinphonia, The Reflective And The Sleeper

(GODS:) She claims to withhold wisdom, while She misleads her sleepers with a self-inflicted truth. Yet, she is but the core of another comedy, another character in the divine disharmony. Our next act will define the doubt in her mind.

(SHE:)

Float numb in the water
Wait for the end of your strength
Rest your ears beneath the surface
And focus your eyes in the gray sky

You're a shadow in a shadowland
Insensible, indistinct
Drifting with the breeze
Allowing the sleep to set in

I despise you, the sleepers, for not being me

(Chorus:)
We all have to choose
Between the reflective and the sleeper
Between too much or nothing at all

Now look at me
I've let red light into my eyes
I have risen from the water
Opened my eyes to the mirrors

I'm a mirror in a mirrorland
Insensible, indistinct

(Chorus)

I despise myself for not being you