

Siouxsie and The Banshees, I Could Be Again

Through glowing gloom, I see the flicker of treason
Dancing on the picture of what might have been
This minute will last a day, these days will last for years
And those years that take ten lifetimes to pass without a reason

To be again
I could be again
To be again
I could be again

Rising up, the notion of rejuvenation
Oh yes, I could be again
I could be again
Rising up, I could be again

Taking form, a complete transformation
Just us, the cameras, and those wonderful people out there in the dark
This minute will last a day, these days will last a year
And those years that take ten lifetimes, I won't let you disappear

To be again
I could be again
To be again
I could be again

In the dark
From such a tiny spark
It's me again
I could be again

I could be again
I could be again
I could be again
It's me again
I could be again
I could be again
