

Sirenia, The 12th Hour

Clock is ticking won't stop tricking me

The clock is ticking time pass away
Now tomorrow is yesterday
Life is slipping through my hands
No one caress no one understands

Can't you see that time
Becomes our foe
Time stares you right in the eye
With and ice cold heart and a grinning smile
Can't you see that life
Becomes our woe
Time pass by carless and vile
So treacherous deceiving and guile

Time is the enemy
Unseen
Planing it's tricks on me
Foresee
Won't you ever let me be
You see
Cunning eternally
Leave me be

The hours pass by faster each day
Weeks and months just waste away
Near by near I feel more deprived
Thirty nine and barely alive

Can't you see that time
Becomes our foe
Time stares you right in the eye
With and ice cold heart and a grinning smile
Can't you see that life
Becomes our woe
Time pass by carless and vile
So treacherous deceiving and guile

Would you still be right by my side
The moment our worlds collide
Would you be mine until the end
And again

Can't you see that time
Becomes our foe
Time stares you right in the eye
With and ice cold heart and a grinning smile
Can't you see that life
Becomes our woe
Time pass by carless and vile
So treacherous deceiving and guile
We all fall apart, like trumbling towers
At wits end, the gate is near soon I will be out of here
There is no time left this is the twelfth hour
My days are donw, my time is here, cross my heart and have no fear