

Sissel, We Both Know

We Both Know

(Lene Marlin)

The outside unknown feels so cold

All you can think of is closing your eyes

Hoping its gone when they open

But the feeling is still there

You dreams can not change today

Everythings familiar

Everythings the same

And you are sorry

We both know

I will hear your laughter again

I know how it feels

When the shadows lie upon you

You wonder about life how it goes

Youve lost your directions long time ago

Want to start it all over again

Losing your patience, want to know when

Time finds you worthy one second chance

Then youll ne ready wont let it slip away

We both know

I will hear your laughter again

I know how it feels

When the shadows lie upon you

We both know

I will hear your laughter again

I know how it feels

When the shadows lie upon you

When the shadows lie upon you

lie upon you