

Sister Seven, Nobody Knows

Three years in May since I woke up
And you opened up to me
A year and two months now since we broke up
But you were holding on for me
Every now and then I think
Can't believe you're here
You made me strong
You made me whole
A lion sleeps inside your soul

How much I needed
Nobody knows
How much you saved
I'm amazed
You have made me more than this
I've never wanted more than this
How much I wanted
Nobody knows

Hip your mind to the beats and the story
'Cause there's a lesson in this thing
I would lie and believe what I'm saying
My pride was a hurting thing
Every now and then I cry
For the joy you bring
You helped me change
you helped me know
A lion sleeps inside my soul

All this time the road's been winding
So much was crazy hurting myself
No one accepts this world could be heaven
Fighting each other
And leaving again
