

Sister Seven, Superman

I feel you wrap around me
Then I wake again to find
That the devil's laughing at me
Counting every single time
That I have said I love you
Ever since you went away
Then I plead a prayer to Mary
'Cause there's nothing left to say
Superman could never save me
From what I've done
Suffering my twisted head
You said you would be the one
I'll be running on

I guess you didn't notice
But I was begging you to stay
The summer heat is over
But I still need your chocolate shake
I like mine thick with cherries
When I call you seem amused
You say that you still love me
But all your sweetness has been used
And I'm leaving
