Skeeter Davis, Somebody Else On Your Mind

When you take me in your arms and tell me that you love me I want to think it's really true but my heart won't let me For when you're kissing me it's plain for me to see You've got somebody else on your mind Somebody else is with you in your dreams Somebody else now has your love it seems Give her your kisses they're not really mine You've got somebody else on your mind [strings] When you're holding her so close and telling her you love her What would she think if she just knew you also told another
