Skepticism, Aether

Deep in layers unwarm drifting Lower in depths still descending On wide billows slowly floating In colder streams smoothly drifting

Beauty unleashed Light wind flowing Heard Silence

A dance to abyss would soon follow Once another would soon swallow Darkness as the light most silent Silence as the darkest of voices

From Silence and anything To Silence and nothing Is the path of final solitude