

Skeptix, Violent Streets

I've seen it all before fighting death and war listening to the screaming watching all the violence

I've been screaming all night and I've been screaming all day and I'm losing control of myself

Cos I've been standing in these violent streets so long I'm losing all control of the sense of right and wrong the coppers try to take it all away violent street it's the only fucking way it's got to happen someday they'll move us all away a dead city all around a fucking ghost town