

Skin, Which Are The Tears

(M. Gray, T. Meagher)

I guess I never really knew just what you were thinkin'

I never took the time to ask you why

I should've known better, you've been reading me just like a letter

Erasing everything in time

I know that I should just forget it, pretend that you're sleepin' alone

But I'm not a fool you know, a fool would've not let you go

Chorus:

I gave you my heart, I gave you my soul, I gave it all to you

Now that you're gone, it's not the same

Which are the tears and which is the rain?

Which are the tears and which is the rain?

I don't know how to face our friends, I don't know what I should tell them

I wanna reach out but I don't know how

I should've known better, but baby you've been reading me

Reading me just like a letter, erasing everything in time

I know that I should just forget it, pretend that you're sleepin' alone

But I'm not a fool you know, a fool would've not let you go

(chorus)

You know I need you, and I want you to stand with me

(Solo)

But I'm not a fool you know, a fool would've not let you go

(chorus)

Which are the tears and which is the rain?

Which are the tears, I can't stand the rain

Ooh baby, I don't know

Which are the tears and which is the rain?
