

Skrewdriver, Warlord

Spoken intro:

Once upon a time, long ago, or maybe not so, in a land that progress had attempted to destroy.
Where many people had lost hope, and the enemy reigned with cruelty and evil.
This land where once the people were proud and free, now they cowered in fear and servility.
From this desert of destruction and despair, once more to the fore in his nation's hour of need... to the enemy's terror, and his people's elation, came the Warlord...

No one's ever gonna take away his land
Not whilst he has the power in his hands
He appears when his nation is in danger
To all our enemies he's the slayer

Warlord, I'll tell you of his story
Warlord, riding into glory
Warlord, the power's in his hands
Warlord, saviour of this land

Fear no evil, whilst he is at hand
He's been the guardian since time began
Protector of the people and the pride
With him at our head now we shall ride to victory

Warlord, I'll tell you of his story
Warlord, riding into glory
Warlord, the power's in his hands
Warlord, saviour of this land

Warlord, I'll tell you of his story
Warlord, riding into glory
Warlord, the power's in his hands
Warlord, saviour of this land

No one messes with the people when he's around
Heed this warning enemies and get out now
All those traitors out there he knows who you are Battlecries are sounding warriors near and far, near and far

Warlord, I'll tell you of his story
Warlord, riding into glory
Warlord, the power's in his hands
Warlord, saviour of this land

Warlord!
Warlord!
Warlord!
Warlord!
Warlord!
