

Skunk Anansie, Squander

Why take everything you see?
You have nothing left to squander
If you keep pushing me away
You have no one left to love

You throw it all away Look tease you anthem suffer for you cause disaster
squander squander squander squander

Why take everything you see?
You have nothing left to squander
If you keep pushing me away
You have no one left to do love you're less than you should be what runs so hard to finish I you could contedement

squander squander squander squander

Why take everything you see?
You have nothing left to squander
If you keep pushing me away
You have no one left to loooooove, loooooove
Why squander squander squander squander

Why take everything you see?
You have nothing left to squander
If you keep pushing me away
You have no one left to, no one left to love
