

Sky Eats Airplane, Disconnected

So close, yet still so far,
you can run but you'll never escape.
I tried to pull myself together,
but I guess its too late.

I am the fire in your heart,
go to sleep and wait for the spark.

Will you forgive me for this day?
My life's a waste.

This is the anchor that makes me drown
I hope that you will never live this down.
Abandon all your hope just to leave this mess,
out of anyone I sure know you best.

Watch what a marvel this is to make your breath stop

You are the gasoline,
I am the fire that burns down to the ground,
then, there will be nothing left.

Sweat drips down both my hands,
as I feel the heat from where I stand.
Blame me, I'm not gonna save you,
you'll be forever burned alive.