

Skylar Grey, Runaway

I need a place where I can be alone
Only my conscience, my skin, and my bones
'Cause I cannot face this mess that I've made
It's gotten too out of control

I just wanna run away
And go to where nobody knows my name
And stop the madness here
Can I please just run away?
And go to where nobody knows my face
And start the whole thing over
And start the whole thing over

I need a place where I can be myself
Far away from the judgement I've felt
My body and soul don't feel like my own
Been livin' in someone else's hell

And I just wanna run away
Go to where nobody knows my name
And stop the madness here
Can I please just run away?
And go to where nobody knows my face
And start the whole thing over
And start the whole thing over