Sleeping With Sirens, Your Nickel Ain't Worth My

I found a love that swept me off of my feet Found a baby, she's the finest thing this boy had ever seen

She'd pick you up, and make you wanna fall hard When I step out on the scene, they shout Oh my god!

She's so unreal She lets me take her home Let my body love your body, baby All night long

I wanna write a song about you now, yeah Something that would make you wanna start I wanna write a song about you now, yeah Something from the bottom of my heart

I wanna take ya home I wanna take ya home

Damn, this girl, can't find nobody like her She is everything I want and I'd do anything for her I'd beg, beg, and beg Make me believe that there is no one else I need When you satisfy me

I'll take you home We can be alone And let my body show you lovin' like its never ever known

I wanna write a song about you now, yeah Something that would make you wanna start I wanna write a song about you now, yeah Something from the bottom of my heart

I wanna take ya home tonight, alone Take you places you've never known Keep you coming right back for more Keep you coming right back for more

I wanna take ya home tonight, alone Take you places you've never known Keep you coming right back for more Keep you coming right back for more, more, more, yeah

I wanna write a song about you now Something that would make you wanna start I wanna write a song about you now, yeah Something from the bottom of my heart

I wanna take ya home tonight, alone Take you places you've never known Keep you coming right back for more Keep you coming right back

I wanna write a song about you now, yeah From the bottom of my heart From the bottom of my heart