Slightly Stoopid, Castles Of Sand

strike down the one sir come criticize you strike down the one sir come jeopardize you come jeopardize you and like a new grown seed the man come and chop you down he come chop you down and when your reaching for that sunshine he come chop you down he come chop you down the man come he say to me in the morning time you'll see me by the ocean floor building castles building castles made of sand said if your good to me you know that ill be good to you you never really understood the meaning of the truth