

Sloan, False Alarm

I know that I'm just a friend,
Not what you call a relation.
I wonder what they would say
Regarding the situation, oh yea. (ooo)

Looking forward till next time. (ooo)
I promise that I won't drag my feet.
Always looking for reasons to walk on your street, oh yea.

It's been so long, it's been so long.
You think you're on your own, just taking it slow,
But something always happens whenever we're together, it shows.

I feel that I'm out of touch,
Not very good at pretending.
But when you sit in my path
I don't know what I'm defending, oh yea. (ooo)

Looking forward till next time. (ooo)
I might as well just admit defeat
It's the bridge too far
And I'll always repeat, oh yea.

It's been so long, it's been so long.
You think you're on your own, just taking it slow,
But something always happens whenever we're together.

It's been so long, it's been so long.
You think you're on your own, just taking it slow,
But something always happens whenever we're together.

It's been so long, it feels like a false alarm.
You think you're on your own, just taking it slow,
But something always happens whenever we're together.

It's been so long, it feels like a false alarm.
You think you're on your own, don't think that shows ,
But something always happens whenever we're together, it goes.