

Slow Coming Day, A Loss Of Innocence

In the blink of an eye,
I watch as my soul dies.
In only a moment,
my heart is shattered to nothing.
I have lost everything
I am and ever will be forever.
Guilt and anguish consume me.
I could never make this feeling leave.
Tears now my only words.
As silence fills the room.
I have lost everything
I am and ever will be forever.
I have lost everything.