

Slowdive, Ballad Of Sister Sue

You tell me I'm lost and I don't seem too sure what to do (x2)
There's a fire in my head and I'm blinded by bullets (x2)
Dancing to nowhere, I'm losing my head and I'm (x2)
And the man at the bar that night recall that he needed me x2)

Sister, I've lost all the feeling
I'm lost and I'm sold
I lay down beside you
Sister, I'm blinded
It's only my eyes
I've sold them before

The man said the drinking is handled by pouring it right (x2)
And It seemed much the same when he pointed the gun at his head (x2)
Who'd need me then

In raise of much noise and I checked out the time, yeah
Let all my face down in the words of a stranger, no

Sister, I've lost all the feeling
I'm lost and I'm sold
I lay down beside you
Sister, I'm blinded
It's only my eyes
I've sold them before
