

Slowdive, Country Rain

she wakes up on her own and opens her eyes
the sun tries to burn through the pain she still feels inside

i've seen you fall apart i know you wouldn't care but i wish you were mine

she looks into his face just to be near him and the clouds come round again nothings changed

i saw you for a lifetime i know i shouldn't care
but i wish you were mine
and the rain keeps on falling in my heart.