

Small Fred, No Limit

I have seen you in the morning diving into icy blue
I have seen you rise and shiver till the sun has come to you
You have seen me swimming naked where the riptide pulls across
You have seen me going under, you have feared that I was lost
We will take what we are given, we will take just what we need
We will speak the words of comfort, we will heal the wounds that bleed
We have seen the distant torches, we are breaking from the line
We are listening to our heartbeats, we are right on time

CHORUS:

No limit these cliffs are wild and steep
No limit these rocks move beneath our feet
No limit we will sleep in the firelight
I asked my sisters, they said we are shining, we are strong
Neither you nor we can navigate this wilderness alone
We are surrounded by the souls of those we love
We are unbounded, we are here, we are enough
I asked my brothers, they said we have wanted your embrace
Your heart has been a fortress, your words a state of siege
We will gather in the harvest with the strength of honest men
We will speak in awkward wonder, we will weep, we will begin

CHORUS:

No limit no monkey on my back
No limit no slipping through the cracks
No limit no turning back no turning back
Those who chafe under their bondage know these chains have many links
Death is slender as a needle, it is cool as just one drink
It is feeding on the silence, it is strong with hateful words
It is massing on the border, it is a sudden flight of birds
We will sing the songs of childhood, we will dance the steps unknown
We will weave in blazing colors, we will let our terror show
We will call out to each other at the hour of attack
We are safe within our magic, we will turn the demon back

CHORUS:

No limit we are not what we seem
No limit we fly in our dreams
No limit we are brave and bright
No limit we are sound and light
No limit we are taking flight tonight.
