Smile Empty Soul, Morning Light

All the pain brings me down again I've fallen to the floor Drag myself thru the dirt again I'm heading for the door I know it's there on the other side the moon is setting slow Use the best of my will to fight this feelings got to go In the morning light I'll start again with open eyes And I feel alright the pain is gone, I'm still alive Try to stay as clean as possible The dirt just wont come off Pull myself to the window sill See how much time I've lost Dwelling on the mistakes I've made My soul has paid the price Times are hard in the perma fade I never see things right [Chorus] Is my soul sposed to blee, its happening again And I'm feelin so lost without you It's getting hard to see, I hope it's not the end Cause I need help to find the answer

In the morning light I'll start again with open eyes And I feel alright the pain is gone, I'm still alive

Still alive Still alive
