

Smoking Popes, 64 Hours

I've been wasting my time,
I've been looking for something to do,
I've been trying to fight it
But everything brings me to you.
I've spent 64 hours trying to master your powers but I can't
There are so many ways there's just not enough days to be spent
You've got everything all that I need
How long till you draw the line,
How long till my time runs dry,
I long for the easy life,
I want you there by my side
I've been wasting my time,
I've been looking for something to do,
I can no longer fight it now nothing can save me from you
You've got everything all that I need
How long till you draw the line,
How long till my time runs dry,
I long for the easy life,
I want you there by my side
