

Snitch, Princess Without A Crown

When the sun goes down and the day is done for her the TV is on and she is broken she dreams about this song she once heard on the radio about a beautiful princess

Her love has gone away and she's still on her own The guy who promised her a good life is finally gone

Like a fish that can not swim like a bird that can not fly like a dog without a bone princess without a crown

Next morning she woke up still had her working clothes on her eyes are sleepy and still tired she packed her bags drove down to hollywood to start a new live to forget
