

Snow Patrol feat. Martha Wainwright, You Will. You? Will. You? Will. You? Will. You? Will.

You say that I treat you like a book on a shelf
I don't take you out that often
Cause I know that I've completed you
That's why you are here
That's the reason why you're here
How awful that must feel

Said you could be my dream
I could have you every night
And if by morning I'd forgotten you
Well that's okay, it'd be alright
You're the reoccurring kind
Yes, you're the reoccurring kind
You never really leave my mind

Are you the love of my lifetime?
Cause there's been times when I've had my doubts
We were just kids when I first kissed you
In the attic of my parent's house
And I wish we were there now
Took so long to figure out
What this book has been about

Now I write when I'm away
Letters that you'll never read
You said go explore those other women
The geography of their bodies
But there's just one map you'll need
You're a boomerang, you'll see
You will return to me

You will, you will, you will, you will,
you will, you will, you will, you will.
You will.

Cause if you don't then this book's all lies
If you don't then my plans will all be ruined
If you don't I'll start drinking like the way I drank before
And there just won't be a future anymore.
