

Snow Patrol, Last Ever Lone Gunman

This heartbreak's never ending it's like it never happened a fall from grace is close why not speed it up?

I've never been so angry to find out that i failed it didn't even work
I have to make amends

I hit him from the window the world just held its breath and I made my escape as if no-one could see

I took off in my pick-up kids screaming in the backseat they heard the shots too and screamed cause that's their way

I do alright in my own way we've all got bigger plans but when it comes down to it mine might save the world at least for one more day don't judge me from your sofas on tv things don't ever come across so true they're made up in your minds
