

So What, Gap

I look into your eyes, I can smell your hair
Your smile is dazzling, I'm gonna despair
'Cause I am still walking on the wrong side of the river You're driving me crazy, you're driving me mad
You can make me happy, you make me so sad
'Cause I am still at the bottom, while you're at the top My rainbow is still black and white
no Technicolor in my life
Is there an entry into paradise
Do I ever live before I die
Give me some affection
Give me some love
or even a gun
to fill the gap in my heart
If I cross the street, I'll be hit by a truck
Why the hell I am down whit my luck
When can I stop to crawl across the floor
You did take my heart, you stole it away
My blood stopped running, even did I Please take my hand, 'cause I am scared of falling
My rainbow is still black and white
no Technicolor in my life
Is there an entry into paradise
Do I ever love before I die
Give me some affection
Give me some love
or even a gun
to fill the gap in my heart
