

Social Siberia, Louder

Every moment spins in circles round this pinnacle But theres a hole in my mind try to fill the empty spots by always blaming man But theres a hole fueled by lies every night i try to figure out why it hurts so much and everything sums up to be a fight everything is lost as innoence that were so much part of everything that fueled the flame we we part of the show and it never seem to close and the fine line between between suicide and heading first but we can do it louder we can go louder you can hear it from my gogogo and its not gonna leave you alone