

Solex, Solex Feels Lucky

And I think once about you, like I should, and I feel so lucky too. Like you, I don't feel at ease so easily. It's so easy to walk on, ...and put up the collar of my jacket. The more I show, the more I go. We're both anxious to say hello. Just put every story between brackets. So I turn my back and scrunch up into an awkward position too, somewhat unnatural too. Well I really wish we felt closer to each other too. I thank you for having me around but wouldn't it be better if we just wrote, and make up some kind of anecdote to make up for each one I forgot.