

Solomon Burke, It Makes No Difference

Well, it makes no difference,
how far I go.
Like a scar that hurts,
it'll always show.
It makes no difference who I meet,
they're just faces in the crowd,
of a deadend street.

Makes no difference where I turn,
can't get over you and the flame still burns.
Makes no difference, night or day,
the sorrow never fades away.
And the sun don't shine anymore.
No, the rain falls down around my door.

Now there's no love
as true as love that dies untold,
but the clouds never hung so slow,
so low before.
Well, well, well,
makes no difference
how far I go.
Like a scar that hurts,
it'll always show.
Makes no difference,
who in the world I meet.
They're just like faces in the crowd,
on a dead-end street.
And the sun don't shine,
don't shine,

anymore, no more
no, no the rain falls down around my door.
Yes it does.

These old love letters
well i just can't keep em.
Like a gambler said, you've just gotta read them and weep.
And the dawn somehow won't rescue me, no more.
Without your love,
i'm nothing at all.
Like a _____
It's a lonely fall.
Since you've been gone
it's a losing battle,
like stampeding cattle,
they just rattle their horns.
And the sun don't shine anymore.
Oh yes I tell y'all.
And the rain falls down around my door.

Well I loved you so much,
it's all I can do,
just to keep myself from telling you,
that I never felt so alone before.
Oh no, but the sun don't shine anymore.
Somebody help me say it.
And the rain falls down around my door.
I'll say it again.
the sun don't shine anymore..
