Someday Never, Push Comes To Shove

Anguish, remorse, no more...

Say goodbye to the person that has left you As she walks to oblivion And the branch that held us falls without a sound For there is no common ground

Maybe a wish, maybe a dream, or just some fantasy But your honesty has honestly run out Maybe a wish, maybe a dream, in your hypocrisy But your honesty has honestly run out

Say goodbye to the person that has left you As she walks to oblivion And the branch that held us falls without a sound As I lay unconscious on the ground