

Son Of A Plumber, Late, Later On

i followed that beautiful sound of her drum to her bedroom bitin' my nails
oh i wasn't sure she was for real yea, i got lucky, so lucky just to meet her
i never lost out
'til late, later on

she was just somebody's daughter somebody's sister
i was so young
i had never seen anything like her so i got lucky, so happy i felt special
i never lost out
til late, later on

- "put on a coat to keep warm and you'll be alright!"
funny, she's here
i still think of her from time to time hey, i was lucky, so lucky just to see her
i never lost out
til late, later on

yea, first i got lucky, so happy, i felt worthy
i never lost out
til late, later on