Sonata Arctica, Dark Empath

So, you told everyone You're falling in love With this wonderful guy The kind you all have to see

Touching your soul Reaching to your heart Knowing your needs Making you beautiful

Walks on the beach Calling you Mon chéri

Dancing tonight
Holding you close
Scanning your pains
Naming them, learning them

Feeding the love Sent from above You think when I claim You are my everything

Little too much, little too soon, you think Sometimes Soon you will learn that my love is

A riddle, I'm a mourning dove Turning brittle, you shall become What I need you to feed me, love

Intimidated, weep Love me, feed me pain so deep While I still need to hear you Call me your love

Stand in the rain, alone in the dark Wait for a train you know will never come

Hip-hip hooray, you can't wish me away Now that I have the key And know when you're home alone

I have never let you know me, My love, Changing the locks, changing your name, I'm a

Riddle, I'm a mourning dove...

Love, always, lonely, Feed me love, feed me pain, Weakness you have shown me Fills my dark, bruise-black heart Always, only mine, you are Perfect life Perfect, I

HA!

You will learn how deep a bruise can be You will learn my name, unriddle me Once upon, guess I was made this way Beauty, trusting love, my fuel, my prey

Tell me you're merely token,

My love Tell me you're forever broken

Riddle, I´m a mourning dove Turning brittle, you shall become What I need you to feed me, love

Intimidated, weep Love me, feed me pain so deep Cause I still need to hear... Still need your pain, keep feeding me, love