

Sondre Lerche, Airport Taxi Reception

I called you because I love you so
It's reason enough it doesn't show
Surely I could ask about things you have done
Who am I to question you? Oh, no
All I wanna hear is everything, alright
Cause I left my mind in the airport
My thoughts in a taxi
My heart in reception
The last thing I saw was you

I called you because we've grown apart
This may seem absurd but I'm in the dark
And somewhere at the end of all the air out there
Is the one original? Oh, well
Now this compensate masonic substitute

Cause I left my mind in the airport,
My thoughts in a taxi,
My heart in reception,
The last thing I saw was you

I will always call it's all that I can do

Cause I left my mind in the airport, my thoughts in a taxi, my heart in reception, the last thing I saw
