

Sonic City, Fire Down The Mountain

I want to fly haunt you night after night I don't give a damn about you suffocate through lies
no thank you
I don't say too much there are better ways not everybody likes to be alone

And there's a fire down the mountain and it's keeping me away living with this anger every single day so don't you go tell me nothing's wrong does it even matter
as I lie awake alone
living life shattered
don't you tell me nothing's wrong

I'm tired of the lies deep down inside won't fade away but I don't give a damn about you
no thank you
I don't say too much there are better ways

does it even matter
as I lie awake alone
living life shattered

I want to like you but I'm afraid I'm afraid of you in my room and my night is colder I want to see through the days that I thought of you but now my nights are all so colder
