

Sonic City, If You Were Me

What a night not exactly right
But it all had to end on a silver moon
I was there and I saw it all
What were you thinkin

When the lights on the streets
Moving way too slow
And these lies are beneath and starting to show
And now I see you never had feelings
And then you go and waste away my love
And then you go and waste away my love
I would shout your name across the floor
Paint your face on my wall
You are guilty and my heart is bleeding

And you might say that its right for me
Tear it up throw it out and leave my misery
And only I can walk away from you
When the lights on the streets
Moving way too slow
And these lies beneath are starting to show
And now I see this is the ending

And then you go and waste away my love
How can you go and waste away my love
I would shout your name across the floor
Paint your face on my wall
You are guilty and what were you thinking
I would shout your name across the floor
Paint your face on my wall
You are guilty and my heart is bleeding

You lied enough better sit down
I think youre fake dont need you anymore
Find another love find another love
You lied enough better sit down
I think youre fake dont need you anymore
Find another love find another love

I would shout your name across the floor
Paint your face on my wall
You are guilty and what were you thinkin
I would shout your name across the floor
Paint your face on my wall
You are guilty and my heart is bleeding

Whyd you sell me out
Whyd you scream and shout
Whyd you tell the world cuz I need to know
