

Sonny, Fenced In

What do you do when all you have is gone?
Can you ask for it back?
Would it be ok to take it back?
I didn't give you my life to keep You stole my dignity and replaced it with barbed wire fence keeping me out of sanity.
So i'll jump the fence to regain the last bits of my mind.
scattered on the ground a puzzle of me,
can you figure out,
can you figure out my life
someone has to lose
and it might as well be me.
But I'm not leaving without it
