

Sophie B. Hawkins, Saviour Child

Hey child
You're so wise
Will you tell me what you're thinking
I don't need an answer
Just to talk to you awhile
I stop searching
When I see you smile
Yeah child
I am crying
'Cause I know just how you're feeling
But there won't be an answer
For a long long while
So promise me
You won't stop dreaming
Color rainbows in the rain
And follow to a heart of gold
There's a saviour born every day
In the valley of your soul
It's you child
So learn the truth
Though most folks they'll keep on lying
There will be an answer
Just you give yourself the time
And promise me
You won't stop trying
Color rainbows in the rain
And follow to a heart of gold
There's a saviour born every day
In the valley of your soul