

Soraya, I'll Be There

When I was standing all alone without a place to call my own I found a shelter in your heart found a way to carry on

You were my legs when I was weak you were my eyes when I couldn't see now I stand before you strong a faithful friend forever more

If you ever need a hand someone to understand always know that I'll be there

Neither time nor age will change the way I feel for you today when others simply turned away by my side you remained

If you ever need a hand
someone to understand
always know that I'll be there
